Penn Community Bank Donates $22,500 to Family Service

Bucks County's homeless shelter, additional programs benefit from substantial donation

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (July 2017) - Penn Community Bank, Bucks County's leading independent, mutual financial organization, is proud to announce the donation of $22,500 to Family Service Association of Bucks County, a nonprofit that provides invaluable resources and assistance to those in need throughout Bucks County

With offices in Bristol, Langhorne, Doylestown and Quakertown, Family Service aids nearly 30,000 people across Bucks County each year. While the organization may be best known for running the Bucks County Emergency Homeless Shelter in Levittown, it also offers a variety of programs aimed at increasing opportunities for adults, protecting seniors, reducing substance abuse, improving the lives of those with mental illness, preparing children for the future, and much more.

"Bucks County is typically thought of as an affluent community, but many of our neighbors struggle with food insecurity, unemployment, substance use disorders, homelessness, and more. Family Service listens, cares, and helps Bucks County residents overcome these challenges and more," said Penn Community Bank President and CEO Jeane M. Coyle. "We here at Penn Community Bank are proud to be counted among Family Service's supporters and look forward to working together to address these challenges facing our communities."

As part of its ongoing support for Family Service, Penn Community Bank served as a major sponsor of its recent golf outing, one of the organization's primary fundraisers. The bank also supports the nonprofit with leadership and volunteers; William Larkin, Jr., who is vice chairman of the Penn Community Bank board of directors, also serves as the treasurer for Family Service, and several bank team members serve on the committee to organize the golf outing each year.

"Anyone who works in the nonprofit sector knows that none of us can solve problems on our own. We rely heavily on community partners such as Penn Community Bank," said Family Service CEO Audrey J. Tucker. "We want Bucks County to be a community where anyone can achieve his or her full potential, and the support from Penn Community Bank is vitally important to help us fulfill that vision."
