Penn Community Bank President & CEO Appointed to Board of Pennsylvania Bankers Association

Jeane M. Vidoni will represent nine counties in southeastern PA and the greater Lehigh Valley on the board of the statewide professional organization

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (June 2018) – Penn Community Bank is proud to announce that President and CEO Jeane M. Vidoni has been appointed to the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Bankers Association for the 2018-2019 fiscal year.

The 23-member board of directors includes representatives from banks of various asset sizes as well as from six geographic regions across the state. Vidoni will represent Group 2, which covers the city of Philadelphia and Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Montgomery, Berks, Lehigh, Northampton and Schuylkill counties.

“While the financial industry continues to change rapidly, the PBA has remained a vital resource for education, training and advocacy for financial service providers of all sizes and types,” said Vidoni. “I look forward to working with my board colleagues to help ensure that the PBA continues to offer our members the education and resources they need to achieve ongoing success in their communities.”

Throughout her 35-year career in banking, Vidoni has served in various roles at local, regional and national banks throughout the Philadelphia region. As president and CEO of Penn Community Bank, Pennsylvania’s second-largest mutual bank, her primary mission is to ensure that the Philadelphia region has the option to do business with a locally based, independently run financial organization for decades to come. A graduate of Muhlenberg College, Vidoni holds an MBA from Saint Joseph’s University. She lives in Doylestown.

Vidoni and the other new officers and members of the board were approved during a vote on May 17, 2018, at the association’s annual meeting in Naples, Florida.
